

How to create a Revision Schedule

1. Download (and print if you prefer to hand-write) the 'Topic Checklist' and 'Revision Schedule' documents from INSIGHT or ParentMail.
2. Choose the correct schedule – if it's during term time you need the 'term time' schedule, if it's a holiday or during your study leave you need the 'non-term time' schedule.
3. Write in any pre-planned activities that are booked in and cannot be flexible e.g. an extra-curricular club, a birthday party, etc.

Revision Schedule – Term Time

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday		Saturday	Sunday
4.00			Football Training			9.00	Paper Round	Lie in
			Football Training			10.00
5.00			Football Training			11.00
			Football Training			12.00
6.00	Dinner	Dinner	Dinner	Dinner	Dinner	1.00		Nan's birthday
					Out	2.00		Nan's birthday
7.00					Out	3.00		Nan's

4. Print off your exam timetable from INSIGHT – which exams are coming up first? These should be your first priority.
5. On your 'Topic Checklist' list all of the topics within each subject, and which exam (if there is more than one for that subject) that the topics fit in to. Next to each topic there is a space to note when you have revised it, when you have tested yourself on it, and when you have revisited it again.

Topic Checklist

Subject: Geography

Exam Paper	Topic	Revised	Tested	Revisited
1	Rivers and Coasts
1	Volcanoes
1	Rio de Janeiro case study

6. Which topics are you least confident on within these subjects? You might know this from your own intuition, or from recent tests in class, or your latest practice/mock exam paper. These topics should come first for your revision. You might want to colour code them on your topic checklist (red=not confident, yellow=ok, green=very confident)

Exam Paper	Topic	Revised	Tested	Revisited
1	Rivers and Coasts
1	Volcanoes
1	Rio de Janeiro case study

7. Start to plot these topics on your schedule but make sure you have a balance between different subjects and vary the subjects you revise on each day.
8. Build in time to test yourself on a topic that you have revised earlier in the week to see how you are progressing – testing yourself is fine, or getting someone else to test you is even better. You can also use online tests such as Quizlet, Kahoots, etc.

Revision Schedule – Term Time

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday		Saturday	Sunday
4.00	Geography - Rio de Janeiro		Football Training			9.00	Paper Round	Lie in
	Maths - quadratic equations		Football Training			10.00	TEST Maths - quadratic equations
5.00			Football Training		TEST Geography - Rio de Janeiro	11.00
			Football Training			12.00

9. When you have tested you will then know what you need to focus on for that topic the next time you come to revise it. Tick off your topic checklist so that you know where you're at in your revision.

10. If you are using the Leitner flashcard method for any of your topics, you need to be doing this every day (Monday to Friday) so make sure you factor this in to your schedule – it shouldn't take long to do this but don't forget!
